Amit Maitra and Kallol Baroi: the "A" and "K" of AK Enterprises joined hands in the year 2005, not before accumulating domain expertise in individual capacity since early 90s when they started their career.

An artist by instinct and a designer by training Amit Maitra started his journey in 1995. With the inherent skill of visualization and his acquired skill set to transform it makes him a complete designer to take up any challenge to create a new definition in a raw built space. Kallol is a Civil Engineer who developed a keen interest and affinity for architectural and interior domains.

A K Group today has experienced hands with the varied background ranging from Architectural Interior, Civil Engineering, Facility Management, and Project Management, which make up the core team, who are highly motivated and continuously engaged to provide solution and service to all valued clients in tandem with the latest trends.

The company takes care of all requirements from layout planning, design, detailing and graphics to complete execution of the works. "Our vision is to be instrumental in orienting the society to receive service in true spirit. By elevating service level yesterday, to meet tomorrow's expectations today, that's our mission," says Maitra.

With an experienced team, AK Enterprises has specialised in providing "design to build" interior solutions for all genres of habitable space, from residential to commercial segments, for the last two decades. By catering to over a million square feet of built environment across India, they are still thriving to re-invent themselves by accepting fresh challenges of the rapid dynamics of the Interior Industry by pursuing global trends.

Whether it is a commercial project, or a residential space, the client's brief is what governs their approach to design. The dynamic duo experiments with materials, textures and colours to create a stunning design vocabulary. "The fact that we are involved with the client right from the beginning – from conceptualisation to the execution, gives us complete control over the project. This helps us deliver the project, just as we had envisioned," says Kallol. Attention to detail, functionality and materiality responding to the homeowner's way of life without overcomplicating the design, have always been their approach to design. "That's our design mantra," says Amit. ✚
